Turn two-tier base over and remove battery cover. Insert 3 AA batteries and replace cover. Turn unit over again.

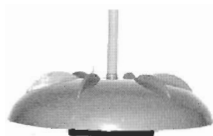

Gently pry tiers apart. Remove pull tab to activate the Panic Mouse Talking Ball and insert into track. You may want to observe your cat's reaction to the Talking Ball, prior to putting it in the Kitty-Go-Krazy, as some cats will be afraid of the noise. There is a separate non-talking ball to use if your cat is afraid.

Attach the electric motor to the base matching the arrows and insert locking pieces into slots turning the motor clockwise to lock in place.

Looking on top of the base there are two red oval-shaped push buttons and one red round button which rotates clockwise to increase speed of the motor and reduces speed of the motor when rotated counter-clockwise. Push the on/off button to turn the unit on and off. The timer button can be set from 15 minutes to 2 hours. To set the timer, push the button once to set the unit for 15 minutes, twice for 30 minutes, etc. Pushing the timer button up to 8 times will set the unit for a full two hours. The Kitty-Go-Krazy unit will turn off on its own after the time has run out. The red nose on the Kitty-Go-Krazy turns clockwise or counter-clockwise to adjust the speed. The more you turn the nose clockwise, the faster the Kitty-Go-Krazy operates.

Insert one of two wands on end of electric drive unit.

Manual Operation Set Up:

Inspect manual cap and observe arrows on the top edge and on the two tier base. Insert locking pieces into slots and rotate clockwise to lock. The manual cap covers the control buttons.

Recommend the insertion of the spring wand into the top of the manual cap.

WARNING: Do not turn the metal arm clockwise by hand as it will result in possible damage to the gears. With all pet products, Kitty-Go-Krazy recommends close supervision. Never allow your cat to bite off or swallow any part of the pet toy.
